Layers | طبقات

Pine wood blocks, hand-cut and glued

Small blocks of wood, cut at different angles and stacked around a single post, rise as a tower of layers. Each block is its own voice, and together they form one body, like the layers of a community built over time. Turn the work and the silhouette changes, just as a community looks different from each side.